THE PROBLEM OF CONTINUED PROGRESS.

Will progress cease with the existence of man upon the earth, is a problem that should be capable of solution through means furnished by natural law. There are certain predicates necessary to its solution. These predicates should not rest on information taking the form of hearsay, which would be in opposition to rules in logic.

They should have a foundation in ascertained facts from known principles and facts in nature, made known through action, subject to natural law, which have a foundation in absolute truth. Man is possessed of a dual nature—animal and intellectual. It is an ascertained truth that progress is confined to his mental or intellectual nature. Any seeming progress there is in the animal man is a reflection of his intelligence.

The animal man is subject to decay and death like other organized material bodies. The question remaining to be disposed of is what becomes of intelligent or intellectual man which was made subject to the law of progress. The principle is not known to be animal, and if not animal it is not subject to law governing chemical changes in material matter. It begins to have the appearance of the sun, known when we pass from material things, but the appearance of the unknown respecting the intellectual man does not establish that the mental man is made of material matter. It only proves that intelligence in man has a limit or a sphere of action, while existing or connected with a material body and material things. It is proclaimed, as it were from the house-top through established facts recorded from the beginning that laws having as their object, system and order, have prevailed to give chaos form. These facts furnish a predicate to an additional fact which is that there has been and continues to be an intelligence present and connected with the work of progress, which present active and overruling intelligence is God.

When it is learned that intelligence has an author and that man is endowed with intelligence, it is also learned as a sequence that man is very near the author of intelligence. There is a foolish objection to be disposed of here, which is that the author of intelligence in man could have enjoyed him when he was created with intelligence sufficient for all purposes connected with his existence upon the earth. The object is not to ascertain what could have been done, but it is to learn as nearly as possible at this time with light present, what was done, subject to an intelligent plan.

When a review is taken of his work in creation there should be no question connected with God's infinite knowledge, power and presence. When a review is taken of his work known to man it is learned that the purpose or plan connected with it has not been changed in any particular; that it abides in all its parts an unchangeable purpose and plan, which gives to his laws the imprint of his character, which admits perfection by proving the truth of the assertion that there is not in him either variableness or shadow of turning.

The steadfastness of God's purposes and plans, which are infinite, is a predicate from which there is derived an indisputable proof that his laws are also infinite and that natural law in the spiritual world is not a subject that has its origin in the imagination of man, but is a fact established, by all known rules revealed to him. The laws of God being infinite, as they must be according to many known facts derived from his works, not to mention many reasons connected with his character, that decide the same truth. What will become of the infinite law of progress applied to man, if he is like a dead pig when he dies, and is not anything more than matter?

Progress, in the event that man is only matter, will get a shaking up when he ceases to exist, which will defeat the infinite purpose and plan of an infinite God. His power, wisdom and omnipresence will be defeated and more particularly will his knowledge go to the wall as an active principle, when progress ceases to have anything to act upon to carry forward the plan of eternal progress connected with Reddit Writes From This Newly Discovered District to the South.

Walter C. Lamb received a letter last night from Tonapah, written by H. C. Cutting of this city, who has a lease on one of the properties. He says:

"My shack is down about fifty feet, the deepest in the camp, I think, the best looking. I have a good house and am comfortably situated."

"The leasers are all doing well. The ore grows better with depth and there is no decrease in the size of the ledges."

Baby's Coming

McDonald, Ok., July 15, 1898.

I advise every suffering woman to take Wine of Cardui. While I was going with my other children I was compelled to stay in bed for days at a time, but this time I have taken Wine of Cardui and never had a day's trouble since. I have been able to do all my housework without any trouble. I am expecting every day to be confined. My husband thinks Wine of Cardui is the best medicine in the world. He takes a dose of Theodore's Wine of Cardui every night before he goes to bed. The children have not lost a day from work this year. He tells his friends about your wonderful medicines and I tell my lady friends to use your Wine of Cardui.

Mrs. GEORGIA LAMB.

WINE OF CARDUI

There are thousands of women who shrink in terror at the thought of the baby's coming. But childbirth is one of the workings of Nature, and it was not intended to imply torture and agony to the heroic mothers of the race. The woman who suffers torture during pregnancy and at childbirth has usually, by some indiscretion, injured the organs which make her a woman. Neglect of menstrual irregularities leads to ovarian pain, falling of the womb and leucorrhœa, and the period of pregnancy is necessarily distressing under these conditions. Wine of Cardui will regulate the menstrual function perfectly and eventually make the generative organs strong and healthy. Pregnancy and childbirth have no terror for the woman who takes this pure Wine. A strong healthy womb will bring its precious burden to maturity with little or no pain. A healthy woman need not fear childbirth. Wine of Cardui completely cures all those troubles familiarly known as "female diseases" and equips the sensitive generative organs for pregnancy and childbirth. It will save any mother much pain and suffering. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles.

PRODUCTIVE OLINGHOUSE

What Miners and Mill Men Are Doing in Olinghouse Gulch.

In the face of a hundred-foot tunnel on the No. 1, owned by Short Bros., last week eighteen inches of ten-dollar ore was cut.

Every mine now being worked in the camp is an ore producer. Great liberty has always been allowed visitors, no miner seeking to hide the truth. No mines are being peddled. The camp goes forward at a steady pace and is proving itself with wonderful regularity.

Kearney & Efricks made a cleanup of the second hundred tons of gravel milled at the Slip. The first hundred tons yielded $4.75 per ton, the second hundred tons yielded $6.50 per ton. The channel from which this gravel was taken has been crosscut for forty feet showing pay dirt that distance and three feet in depth. Length not known yet. As fast as possible a tunnel is being run along the channel and soon they will be ready to run drifts. There are six miners employed now and the force will be increased. There are several thousand tons in sight now, enough to keep the Slip mill running all season. When the source of gold that washed into this channel to make such rich gravel is known, the miners declare it will prove a bonanza the equal of any found anywhere to date.—Dispatch.

SINKING THE SHAFT.

Workers in Great Western shaft is Progressing Rapidly at Present.

Mining operations are proceeding on a business like basis at Steamboat. The sump shaft at the hotel is being sunk two feet a day. Seven men are employed by the Great Western Company. Considerable water is coming into the shaft, but it is being easily handled by one of the steam pumps and the other is held in reserve for a heavier flow.

Small assays are being obtained from this shaft. The resultant gold is very pure. Superintendent Hopkins hopes to pick up the lead in thirty feet more depth.

If the bottom of the shaft does not encounter it he will drift west.

The ground around the drill hole, where the big assay was obtained from the drillings, prospects away up. The colors are very small, but innumerable.

RENO'S BIG BONANZA.

Work is progressing in two places at the Reno Star. A number of small cross-cuts are being run and the lead has been already traced to a point two hundred feet north of the workings.

It comes to within two or three feet of the surface.

The new incline shaft is following ore towards the Bell line, which will be reached in less than a week. The ledge is now dipping very rapidly. Three carloads of ore have been shipped this week and half a dozen carloads are awaiting sacks.

SLIPPERY CUSTOMER.

J. G. Merklinger, the fish and game warden, returned from Verdi yesterday where he had an interesting experience the night previous.

In company with a friend he visited the flume of the Verdi Lumber Company. After a brief wait, a man, armed with a dark lantern, was seen getting in some fine work at the flume.

With a board he shut off the water and proceeded to gather up the trout.

Mr. Merklinger "pinched" him, but he had no fish in his possession and, as they could not be found, he was let go.

Report has it that this fellow catches a tub full of rainbows and McClouds every haul.

At other points along the river nothing suspicious was observed.

RAILROADS AT WAR

The Clark Outfit is Preparing to Stand Off the Short Line Gang.

A dispatch from Crestline, Lincoln county, the seat of the railroad war between the Short Line and Clark forces, says:

The Clark force, now numbering fifty, has secured possession of the big cut this side of tunnel No. 1, also the cut on the other side of the tunnel.

The Oregon Short Line placed men inside the tunnel for the purpose of holding it, but the aim of the Clark force is now to prevent the Short Line from entering it by either portal. The tunnel is about fourteen miles from Uvada, and nine miles from the end of the Short Line's track. The force has its headquarters at Five-Mile spring, which is fifteen miles from Uvada.

one hundred per cent. Go early and avoid the rush.

The graders finished up six miles of grade near the tunnel and have moved down to Clover Valley. It was stated today that the force will maintain its position at the tunnel to prevent the tracklayers from proceeding. As the track to the tunnel cannot be laid within ten days, it will be that length of time before the opposition forces meet.

In one week the Oregon Short Line has made a great record in quick railroad construction. A week ago Saturday there was no material available nearer than Salt Lake or Pocatello. By last Saturday five miles of track had been completed.

COMSTOCK MINSTRELS

Something About the Aggregation That Should Pack McKissick's Opera House.

Emery Marabell brings with him from San Francisco a laughable sketch. Mahoney and Legris will take chance with him on the evening of the 25th.

Jim Kennedy will receive bouquets for a little composition of his own. His act is of the heavy variety and requires a vehicle for its delivery. He will tell a few things, and the company will have a physician on hand in the case of accident.

John Conidine knows a few things himself, and isn't afraid to tell them. Jim Mahoney is a little jolly, and doesn't drink. He will be as jolly as ever on the 25th.

Ira. Robinson is facetious. He was recommended to the Excelsior Minstrels by himself, and made the recommendation good. Those to whom he lends money say he is good.
